Meditations . . .

*“Whoever does not take up his cross and follow
after me is not worthy of me.”
(Matthew 10:38)*

Did you know that this is the first time the cross is mentioned in Matthew’s Gospel? It comes at a time when Jesus is commissioning the Twelve to go out preaching and healing. Jesus doesn’t directly predict his own death, either. He’s telling his closest followers the conditions of discipleship!

We might not quite grasp what a challenging statement Jesus was making. As Christians, we might think that taking up the cross means bearing life’s burdens, whether they be inconveniences, sickness, or hardship. And that’s not wrong.

But his disciples would have understood that the call to take up their cross meant something much more radical. Crucifixion was a feared, brutal, shameful manner of execution. So they understood that Jesus was telling them to be willing to give up everything to follow him and witness to him—even their lives, if necessary. It’s not so different from what Jesus had said just before this: whoever loves father or mother, son or daughter more than him is not worthy of him (Matthew 10:37). Even important family ties must be second to our commitment to Jesus.

This is not an easy message. But consider who is asking it of us. Jesus is not merely a teacher or philosopher. He’s not simply a compassionate wonder-worker or dedicated advocate for the poor. He is God himself. Of course we should have nothing above God in our lives!

Consider also that the One who asks this of us lived out this command perfectly. He humbled himself and laid down his life to free us from sin and death and restore us to the Father. How could we respond with anything less?

Today, hear Jesus’ demanding call. Ask him for the grace to follow him wholeheartedly.

*“Jesus, I embrace
this hard saying.
Help me to put you first in every area
of my life.”*
